THE HIGH EFFICIENCY of the Brascolite is obtained by the arrangement of the bowl and reflector which direct all emitted light to the working plane with a minimum absorption. Photometric tests indicate an average efficiency of the Brascolite of over 80 per cent. By comparison with photometric tests of direct reflectors you will find that it is more efficient than 90 per cent of the direct reflectors and that it shows an average efficiency of effective lumens on the working plane of 65 per cent as against an average efficiency of 35 per cent for ordinary semi-indirect systems and of 25 per cent for totally indirect systems.
